The Clinical Companion: Flow of Care

Belief Counseling · Counselors' Room

1. Telephone Intake

First contact with the client

- Ask: online or paper forms?

2. Online (or Paper) Intake

The client completes the forms before the first visit

- About You and Brief History
- Life Events & Beliefs Screening
- Agreements and consent forms, signed on screen

3. Schedule First Visit

Set the first appointment

4. Assessment Report Begins

AI starts the report from the intake information

5. Review Intake Information

Before the first interview

- Initial hypothesis about diagnosis
- Initial hypothesis about toxic beliefs

6. Initial Interview

Belief mining begins

- Functional analysis of presenting problem (counselor-led)
- Consider safety issues
- Review the Life Events & Beliefs Screening and Brief History

7. Develop Hypotheses

Diagnosis and possible false beliefs

8. Counselor Enters First Case Note

AI adds the Interview Findings

- Functional analysis findings dictated into the note
- AI suggests DSM-5-TR and belief questions for next session
- Steps 6-8 repeat after each session

9. Follow-up Tests or Assessments

Level checklists, diagnostic forms

- Check off forms on the "Forms to Complete" card
- Short screens: PHQ-9 (depression), GAD-7 (anxiety)
- Optional spiritual screens (if faith is included):
  - RSS-5, routinely (about 2 minutes)
  - Brief RCOPE, when a specific stressor is central
  - SAI, for in-depth work (author permission needed)
  - Christian Experiences and Beliefs (counselor-guided)

10. Diagnosis + Identify

DSM-5-TR and false beliefs

- Refresher: the DSM-5-TR diagnostic process

11. Treatment Plan

Built from the diagnosis and false beliefs

12. Challenge
