PSYCHOLOGICAL/COGNITIVE FALSE BELIEF #59 · PTSD

“If I talk about it, I will fall apart, so I have to keep it locked inside.”

Where it often comes from

Silence often kept you going. Talking can feel like opening a door you cannot shut, as if one sentence would undo you in front of someone. That fear deserves respect. The lie says any word will make you fall apart, so the only safe choice is to lock it all inside. Many people find that a small, chosen sentence, with a counselor, does not destroy them. You never have to tell everything. You never have to tell it before you are ready. A counselor can help you work with this at a pace that is safe. You do not have to do it alone, or all at once.

What Scripture teaches

God is the Father of compassion and the God of all comfort, and He comforts us so that comfort can be shared. We are told to carry one another’s burdens, and to weep with those who weep. The Lord is near the brokenhearted. He binds up the brokenhearted. None of this is a command to disclose your story on demand. It is a promise that comfort exists outside of silence, and that falling apart is not the certain result of one true, careful sentence with a safe person.

> “Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassion and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our troubles, so that we can comfort those in any trouble with the comfort we ourselves have received from God” (2 Corinthians 1:3–4).

> “Carry one another’s burdens, and in this way you will fulfill the law of Christ” (Galatians 6:2).

> “Rejoice with those who rejoice; weep with those who weep” (Romans 12:15).

> “The LORD is near to the brokenhearted; He saves the contrite in spirit” (Psalm 34:18).

> “The Spirit of the Lord GOD is on Me, because the LORD has anointed Me to preach good news to the poor. He has sent Me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives and freedom to the prisoners” (Isaiah 61:1).

Common self-statements

- If I start, I will not be able to stop.
- No one can handle hearing it, and neither can I.
- Keeping it inside is the only adult thing to do.
- Needing to talk means I am weak.
- One word will ruin the rest of my day, or my life.
- God wants me to pretend I am fine.

Common logical errors

- Fortune telling: Deciding that any word will certainly shatter you.
- All-or-nothing thinking: Either I tell everything or I tell nothing.
- Catastrophizing: Treating emotion that rises as proof you will not recover the day.
- Mind reading: Assuming no one could bear a single careful sentence.

Challenging questions

- What am I afraid will happen if I say one sentence, not the whole story?
- Have I ever said a little and remained myself afterward?
- Who is actually safe enough for a small truth?
- Do I have permission, including from myself, to stop?
- What kind of comfort does Scripture describe, and does it require a full account?
- What pace has my counselor offered?

Truth summary

> I do not have to tell everything. One careful sentence, with a safe person or my counselor, does not have to make me fall apart.

Songs that speak truth to this belief

Speak O Lord — Keith and Kristyn Getty
Truth can be spoken in pieces. You do not have to say everything.

Dear Younger Me — MercyMe
God meets the younger, wounded part of you with kindness, not a demand to spill it all.

Even If — MercyMe
You can bring a little of the truth even if you do not feel ready for all of it.

To God Be the Glory — Reawaken Hymns
God's glory includes binding up what is broken, not forcing it into the open.

Each morning ask: "If I truly believed God's truth instead of this lie, what is one step I could take today?"

HOMEWORK · REPLACE AND REHEARSE

My Plan for Replacing "If I talk about it, I will fall apart, so I have to keep it locked inside."

✦ ✦ ✦

Read through each section and check the one that fits you best. If none of them fit, write your own. One choice per section is enough. A truth you choose for yourself will stick better than one handed to you.

2 My best question

The one question I will ask myself every time the lie shows up.

- ☐ What am I afraid will happen if I say one sentence, not the whole story?
- ☐ Have I ever said a little and remained myself afterward?
- ☐ Who is actually safe enough for a small truth?
- ☐ Do I have permission, including from myself, to stop?
- ☐ What kind of comfort does Scripture describe, and does it require a full account?
- ☐ What pace has my counselor offered?

My own question: _____

3 My replacement truth

The statement I will say to myself instead of the lie.

- ☐ I do not have to tell everything. One careful sentence, with a safe person or my counselor, does not have to make me fall apart.
- ☐ Silence kept me going, and it does not have to be my only tool.
- ☐ I choose what to say, and when, and to whom.
- ☐ God comforts. He does not force my story out of me.
- ☐ A counselor can help me say a little without being flooded.
- ☐ Feeling stirred is not the same as falling apart.

In my own words: _____

4 My Scripture

The verse that speaks most directly to me. This is the one I will memorize.

- ☐ 2 Corinthians 1:3–4
  "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassion and the God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our troubles, so that we can comfort those in any trouble with the comfort we ourselves have received from God."
- ☐ Galatians 6:2
  "Carry one another's burdens, and in this way you will fulfill the law of Christ."
- ☐ Romans 12:15
  "Rejoice with those who rejoice; weep with those who weep."

Practicing the Truth

5 My practice plan

Everyone does the first four. Then pick one or two extra tools.

EVERYONE DOES THESE

- [ ] Make my Truth Card (below). Carry it and read it at least three times a day.
- [ ] Memorize my Scripture from Step 4.
- [ ] Listen to one song each day from "Songs that speak truth to this belief" on my card, and fill in my song journal (below).
- [ ] Set reminders to silently repeat my truth. Check one or more:
  - ☐ A buzz: my watch or phone vibrates every _____ minutes
  - ☐ An everyday event: every time I _____
  - ☐ A visual reminder: something I will see often, such as a sticky note on my mirror, my truth as the background picture on my phone, or a note on my car dashboard.

PICK ONE OR TWO THAT FIT ME

- [ ] When talking felt like it would undo you: Each day, write down one moment when a single word felt too dangerous. Write what happened, what you told yourself, and one more accurate statement.
- [ ] My name in Scripture: Write a personal reminder based on my verse and read it aloud. Keep this application separate from the Bible quotation.

  For example, 2 Corinthians 1:3 becomes: "Sarah can write: "God is the God of comfort. I can say a little, and I can stop.""
- [ ] Gratitude journal: Each night, write three things I thank God for.
- [ ] Truth recording: Record my own voice reading my Truth Card and verse, and listen in the car or on a walk.
- [ ] Reading: The "Help" topic in Pearls.
- [ ] Listening: The Overcoming Anxiety audio or the Overcoming Depression audio by Dr. Brian Campbell. Tap to play.

6 My action step this week

Do one thing that tests the lie in real life.

Choose steps you can do safely. If this belief comes with hopelessness or thoughts of ending your life, call or text 988 (the Suicide & Crisis Lifeline), or call 911 in an emergency. You do not have to carry this alone.

- [ ] Do not start with the story. With your counselor, practice saying only "This is hard to talk about." Stop there if you need to.
- [ ] Agree on a stop signal with your counselor or a safe person before any harder conversation.
- [ ] Write one sentence you are willing to say, with no graphic detail, and decide later whether to share it.
- [ ] After any conversation, do something ordinary that reminds you that you did not disappear.

Prayer

Lord, I am afraid that speaking will undo me. You are the God of comfort. Give me a safe person, a slow pace, and the freedom to say a little and then stop. Amen.
